They say the very things all teens want to hear, and they act like they care, but they do it only to fool or trick the younger person into doing what they want them to do. It is important to realize that teenagers cannot always be expected to out-think an adult, especially a criminal adult. Offenders know this.

What kind of an impact do you think sexual abuse could have on Alexis? (Depression, guilt, shame, embarrassment, feelings of low self esteem, substance abuse, etc.) You're right, but all those feelings are normal for what she just went through and there is help for anyone like Alexis. What could help someone like Alexis? (Hotline, talking to someone, counseling)
